PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I love programming, and now I make a living out of it with 6+ years of experience. I believe in working hard and getting things done on time. Being a detail-oriented web developer, I'm always learning to keep up with the latest in my field. Back in school, I started setting up websites and doing programming. Over time, I developed a talent for problem-solving. My sharp problem-solving skills, cultivated through countless hours of website building and code refinement, turn roadblocks into opportunities for growth and innovation.
